4. Venue	: La Thanh Hotel Address: 218 Doi Can, Ba Dinh, Hanoi, Vietnam
5. Description of the results	Due to the complicated situation of the Covid-19 pandemic, the conference organizers decided to organize OMEG16 in both forms: in person and online. The OMEG16 conference has received the attention of the international research community. The number of foreign and Vietnamese participants attending in person was more than 150. In addition, the number of participants attending online was 217 (according to registration data on the conference's official website). Although the scientific topics of OMEG16 are still quite new to Vietnamese, it is delighted that out of the total 86 reports selected to be presented at the conference, Vietnamese participants contributed 14 reports, accounting for 16.3%, of which there were 3 invited reports, 4 oral reports and 7 poster reports. The OMEG16 reports will be selected and published in some scientific journal. A two-day school just before the symposium was organized by the LOC of OMEG16 in collaboration with lecturers from Hanoi University of Science. The school provides bachelor and master students with introductory courses on nuclear astrophysics. A meeting of the OMEG16 Advisory Committee was organized for selecting a host country for the OMEG17 in 2024 and China was the chosen. According to the assessment of international scientists, the OMEG16 was held successfully.
